News and Views from Mr. Schmit

Greetings,

We had a busy week to begin November. Before we know it we will be celebrating Thanksgiving! Let's dive right into the Friday before the end of daylights saving rundown:

- Next School Year: Re-Enrollment and Registration for 2022-23 is going to be earlier than in years past. Our re-enrollment period will begin in early January with open registration for new families starting in February.
- Powers Catholic High School Open House is Sunday afternoon. It's not too early to check out for yourselves what our Catholic high school has to offer.
- School Prayer: Parents, if your child is leading school prayer in the morning or afternoon, please feel free to come into the office to watch and pray with us.
- Parent-Teacher Conferences: We will have a ½ day of school Thursday, November 11 for parent-teacher conferences. We will have no school on Friday.
- Christmas Program Change: Parents, our in-person Christmas program will be on Tuesday, December 14 in the church. Our Preschool-3rd Grade will be at 10AM and our 4th-8th Grade performance will be at 2PM.
- Food Service: As the food and supply shortage continues our menu may be impacted from week to week. Mrs. Davidson will alert our teachers on Fridays to get the information out regarding any menu changes for the following week.
- Planning ahead: We are going to host a pre-Christmas experience/event outside on the parish grounds the evening of Thursday, December 16. This event is in the planning stages so more information will be shared soon.
- Unselfie by Michele Borba Lesson #2: Dr. Borba points out in the second chapter of Unselfie that what we say and how we address our children helps them define who they are and how they view themselves. "Too much praise can make kids more self-centered, more competitive, and more prone to cut others down. Too little encouragement can erode self-esteem." Using positive labels that reinforce character can go a long way in children forming their moral identities. ("You're the kind of person who likes to help others." p34). As parents trying to help our children form moral identities through the use of positive labels, we need to employ the following strategies: Notice how your child responds to encouragement to gauge overpraising, align praise with character, use nouns not verbs (choose to be a helper vs choose to help), focus on character, not behavior ("You're the kind of person who likes to help other people"), and model it for your children. (Borba, 34-36). Please contact me if you want a copy of this book.

One of the bulletin boards in the main hallway is currently themed "Give Thanks With a Grateful Heart." Our students are going to have the opportunity to write down on heart shaped pieces of paper the things they are grateful for and hang these moments of gratitude on the display. Isn't it easy to go about our daily lives and forget to be thankful for the many blessings God has provided for us? At Mass this weekend we will hear the story from Sacred Scripture of the prophet Elijah who asked for a cup of water to drink and some bread to eat. The widow was about to make him bread from the last bit of ingredients she had left when he promised her that God would provide flour and oil for a year so she and her son could live. Let us take a moment as families to identify God's provision and blessings and thank the living God with grateful hearts.

Have a blessed weekend,

Andrew Schmit
Principal
